

Executive Director & President Emeritus

Technical Expertise

Monitoring & Evaluation
Policy Analysis
Water Technology Development
Program Analysis

Knowledge Domains

Macroeconomics
Finance and Investments
Health Financing
Higher Education Management
Sustainable Human Development

Professional Experience

Executive Director, Payson Center for International Development, 2007– present

Director of Academic Programs and Distinguished Professor in International Development (Endowed Chair) 1998-2007

Publications

Select publication topics:
Leadership and Management in the Developing World
Federal Resource Allocation
Science and Technology
Education Reform

Select Services

Principle Investigator/Consultant to:
West African Health Organization
Fund for War-Affected Children and Youth in Northern Ugandan
Hellen Keller International Foundation
UNAIDS
ECOWAS

Working Languages

French • English

Eamon M. Kelly, Executive Director and Professor of International Development and Technology Transfer at the Payson Center of Tulane University, was the first social scientist to be elected Chairman of the Board of the National Science Foundation. Kelly is the President Emeritus of Tulane University having served as its president for seventeen years. During his tenure, Tulane was noted not only for its academic and financial growth but also for having the highest percentage of African American students of any major private research university in the United States. He is the former Chairman of the Association of American Universities comprised of the sixty leading research universities in the United States and Canada. Kelly is the original Chairman of the Satellite Working Group, which established the first nation wide private satellite system in the United States, for the benefit of the Public Broadcasting Service. His current teaching, research and service interests focus on sustainable human development and international urban and rural development.

Eamon M. Kelly,
Ph.D.

Contact

Curriculum Vitae

To contact us:

Payson Center for International Development
300 Hebert Hall

Phone: 504-865-5240
Fax: 504-865-5241